

Farm Energy About Us

60GWh

Over 150 large scale
ROC & PPA agreements that produce over
60GWh

Farm Energy NI (FENI) is a member led organisation comprising businesses in the agricultural sector who have an interest in Renewable Energy.

About Us

Our members consist of farmers, landowners, rural businesses, independent generators and dedicated energy developers who operate in the Northern Ireland rural landscape.

Our associate members comprise key public organisations and private companies who support and regulate the sector and who wish to work in conjunction with FENI to see the sector develop and advance as a key part of the NI rural business income stream.

FENI looks after the interests of its members now, but with an eye firmly on the future, through the provision of information, advice, lobbying, group buying power and a range of relevant products and business services. It also provides a shared voice for the sector as well as informing members of new innovations, policies, challenges and issues facing energy use in the NI agricultural sector.

Our Expertise

Nobody knows energy like we do. We have been involved in renewable energy projects, especially wind energy, for over a decade, powering rural businesses and giving them real environmental and economic advantages. Our members comprise owners of Wind, Solar PV, AD, Hydro and CHP assets, and importantly those who have an interest in renewable energy – both its generation and use.

Core to the business is providing impartial information and advice, but we also utilise our group buying power to secure the best financial deals for our members.

The FENI team are primarily from a farming and energy background with over 30 years' experience in all types of energy assets and their operation.

With over 150 large scale ROC & PPA agreements that produce over 60GWh, that's enough energy to power over 17,000 homes. This makes FENI Northern Ireland's largest independent energy agency.

Randolph Renewables Group

FENI was setup in 2013 as the green energy trading business for 'The GreenYard'. In 2018 we became part of the Randolph Renewables Group of Companies, a Scottish / Irish Energy Group that operates primarily in the rural sector. This development gives FENI strong financial backing and payment guarantees for members.

The organisation's operations are split into two entities:

- FENI - which looks after its members and provides them with impartial information and advice
- FENI Trading - which provides the members with a range of Business & Commercial Services
